Part A—Financial Aid Form

Introduction

The College Scholarship Service (CSS) in cooperation with College Financial Aid Officers help high school counselors provide students and their parents with practical and reliable information about post-secondary educational costs and financial aid. There are three main kinds of information students and parents need to estimate the cost of post-secondary education: the total expenses of attending each institution under consideration; the sources of aid available; and how to apply for specific sources of aid. The last includes understanding how to complete the CSS Financial Aid Form (FAF).

Process

The steps required to apply for student financial aid are as follows:

1. Read the catalogs of various colleges and select the colleges that seem most appropriate to your interests. Then write to the admissions office for an application form and request information about applying for financial aid. This should be done early in the senior year of high school.
2. Obtain a Financial Aid Form from any high school or post-secondary institution. By completing this form the student is applying for various grants, loans, and work-study funds the college offers, plus a possible state scholarship and a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant award.

   Some institutions have their own forms that are required in addition to the FAF so the student should determine early whether or not such additional forms are required and the filing deadline. Application for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program may be made by filling out the appropriate boxes on the FAF.
3. Mail the FAF to the College Scholarship Service for analysis as soon after January 1 as possible. The FAF should be sent to the CSS at least four weeks before the earliest financial aid deadline established by the colleges or any deadlines established for a state program to which application is being made.
4. Review the Acknowledgement form the CSS returns to determine that the appropriate institutions and agencies will be receiving a copy of the FAF.

Facts About the FAF

1. The FAF collects all information that is used in the calculation of ability to pay according to the uniform methodology of need analysis, which is approved by the United States Office of Education (USOE).
2. The FAF collects all information needed for calculation of the student eligibility index for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (BEOG).
3. The FAF collects sufficient information for determining a student's dependency status according to the USOE definition.

4. The FAF contains comprehensive instructions for its completion. Key income and expense items are expressed as they are in Internal Revenue Service references and definitions.
5. The CSS mails a copy of the original document and the need analysis report to institutions and state scholarship programs listed on the FAF by the student.

Completing the Financial Aid Form (FAF)—Hints for Parents and Students

1. Look the document over with some care before beginning to fill it out.
2. Proceed with one item at a time. Be sure to complete every question. Virtually every item has specific instructions which should be checked and are useful in answering questions.
3. Use Federal 1040 or 1040A Tax forms where references to specific line items occur.
4. If your family operates a business or a farm, get a Business or Farm Supplement to fill out in conjunction with the Financial Aid Form (FAF).
5. Be careful to match institutions and programs with their proper College Scholarship Service (CSS) Code Numbers when designating the recipients of the Financial Aid Form (FAF).
6. Even if you are doubtful of your eligibility, answer "Yes" to the questions relating to release of Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) information. Most institutions require evidence that you have applied with the Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG) Program before they will confirm their own aid awards. Also, be sure to answer "Yes" to release of information for the Maine Student Incentive Scholarship Program (MSISP).
7. Don't hesitate to contact a financial aid officer at a college near your home to get help with the Financial Aid Form (FAF). Although you may not plan to attend that college, all aid officers are very willing to be of service to you and your parents.
8. If you plan to apply to a Maine college, public or private, be sure to include the Maine Student Incentive Scholarship Program (MSISP) under institutions and programs to receive this Financial Aid form FAF).
9. Be sure to sign the Financial Aid Form (FAF).

Part B — Grants: Federal and State

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program

The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program is designed to provide a "foundation" of financial aid support for those wanting to continue their post-high school education and training. A Basic Grant award can be used in traditional colleges and universities, technical institutes and in certain other non-profit (practical nursing, etc.) and proprietary (barber, beauty, etc.) schools as well. To be eligible for a Basic Grant, a student must:

a. be determined as eligible according to the Basic Grant formula;
b. be an undergraduate student enrolled or intending to enroll at least half-time;
c. be enrolled or intending to enroll in an eligible program at an eligible institution.

All students are encouraged to make application for a Basic Grant. Awards for the 1979-80 period (July 1, 1979-June 30, 1980) will range up to $1800, depending on an individual's eligibility as determined by the standard formula, the number of courses for which enrolled and the costs of attendance.

Student eligibility is determined using a formula developed by the Office of Education. This formula is applied consistently to all applicants and takes into consideration income, assets, family size, etc. An eligibility index number is determined for each applicant from the information contained in the application. The index number is contained in the Student Eligibility Report which is sent to all qualified applicants. This number does not represent a dollar figure, but it is used along with the costs of attendance and enrollment status to determine the actual grant amount.

The Basic Grant award is a grant and does not require repayment. Funds received under this program are to be used for educational expenses which include tuition, fees, room, board, books and miscellaneous expenses such as transportation.

The Basic Grant program is designed to cover no more than one-half the total costs of attendance. Other Federal, State and private student financial aid programs (grant, loan, work) are available at most institutions which provide additional assistance to needy students.

Application for a Basic Grant can be made most readily by checking the appropriate box in Section G, Item 43 on the Financial Aid Form (FAF). Use of the FAF provides a means for determining eligibility for institutional and other federal aid in addition to the Basic Grant. Alternatively, the separate Basic Grant application can be filed.

Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant

Under the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program, grants ranging from $200 to $1500 are made to eligible students. Eligibility is limited to undergraduate students enrolled at least half-time who are determined to be of exceptional financial need. Normally, an SEOG may be received for up to four years with a maximum total eligibility of $4000. Coverage may be extended to a fifth year and a $5000 maximum in programs of that length. An SEOG may not be any more than one-half of the total aid received by an individual. Colleges and other institutions participating in this program are responsible for determining eligibility. No separate application is required.

Maine Student Incentive Scholarship Program

The Maine Student Incentive Scholarship Program provides grant assistance to eligible Maine residents. Awards vary but can range from $200 to $1500 per year. Any individual desiring consideration must submit a Financial Aid Form (FAF) with the appropriate items checked to the College Scholarship Service no later than May 1 of each year. Consideration is limited to full-time students who are determined to be in financial need and who attend eligible Maine institutions. Students in their freshman and sophomore years are eligible for the 1979-80 academic year. In the 1980-81 year the program will be expanded to include junior students and by the 1981-82 year the program will be available to all undergraduate students.

New England Regional Student Program

While not a grant program, the cooperative efforts of New England's state colleges and universities as outlined in this program provide assistance of a similar type to students. Under this program, qualified New England residents are given preferred admission at other state institutions in certain specialized programs not available in their own states. Students accepted in these programs pay a lower tuition than that usually charged out of state students. Any Maine resident who is unable to find the program of his/her interest offered at a Maine post-secondary institution should contact the Division of Higher Education Services, Department of Educational and Cultural Services, Augusta, Maine for assistance.

Part C — College Work-Study Program

The College Work-Study Program provides jobs for students who need financial aid and who must earn a part of their educational expenses. Students may apply if they are enrolled at least half-time as a vocational, undergraduate or graduate student in an approved post secondary institution.

An institution that participates in College Work-Study arranges jobs on-campus or off-campus with a public or private nonprofit agency. In arranging a job and assigning a work schedule, the financial aid officer will take into account: (a) the need for financial assistance; (b) class schedule; (c) health; and (d) academic progress.

In general, the salary received will be based on the current minimum wage, but it may also be related to the type of work done and the proficiency required. As with other campus-based aid, the work-study award is set by the aid office at a limit that cannot be exceeded. Thus, if the student has a $500 CW-S award, regardless of the number of hours worked, and the $500 has been received, the student cannot continue to be employed under work-study for that academic year.

The aid officer at the school is responsible for determining student eligibility for either summer or school year funding under College Work-Study.

Part D -- Student Loans

Guaranteed Student Loan Program (GSLP)

Guaranteed Student Loans are used by aid and non-aid recipients alike. Under the terms of the program, as revised by the Educational Amendments of 1976, a student may borrow up to $2,500 an academic year. Total borrowing under GSLP may not exceed $7,500 for an undergraduate or $15,000 for undergraduate and graduate education combined.

Simple interest accrues at 7% per year.

Interest and repayment begins ten months after graduation or termination of at least half-time student status. Repayment may be deferred for three years while the borrower is on active duty with the Armed Forces or a member of ACTION. Repayment may also be deferred for graduate study. Depending on the size of the loan, minimum repayment of interest plus principal must be at least $360 per year ($30 per month) and may take 5-10 years to repay, exclusive of deferments.

Application should be made directly through the parents' or student's hometown bank, where credit has been established, or through any other willing lender in the student's state of residence. Often the parents' hometown bank will lend directly to a son or daughter of an established customer. Occasionally, banks will lend to students with no past credit history or experience with that particular bank.

The student is the sole obligor of the loan. In some cases, the promissory note must be co-signed. Many banks impose lending ceilings of $1,000-$1,500 per academic year. Federal, state, or private guarantors provide insurance in the event of permanent disability or death.

Under no circumstances may an institution recommend an amount which exceeds the difference between total cost and financial aid awarded, including grant, loan and job.

If students begin a borrowing experience under GSLP they are encouraged to continue borrowing from that source. Additional loan sources compound the repayment burden through separate minimum repayment requirements. Borrowing from a single source limits repayment to a single repayment plan. If it is necessary to borrow from two separate sources, the student is encouraged to contact a school's Financial Aid Office for guidance. More information on the GSLP may be obtained by writing to the Coordinator, Guaranteed Student Loan Program, Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services, Augusta, ME 04333.

National Direct Student Loan (NDSL) Program

The National Direct Student Loan (NDSL) Program offers low-interest loans to students enrolled in an eligible post-secondary institution on at least a half-time basis. Interest accrues at 3% per year, beginning ten months after the student graduates or terminates at least half-time enrollment.

NDSL loans are offered by institutions to meet determined financial need. Unlike Guaranteed loans, no separate application is required. Students must be U.S. citizens, permanent residents or intending to become permanent residents of the United States.

In general, institutions will determine the amount of NDSL offered each year. A maximum loan limit of $5,000 exists for undergraduate students. Students pursuing graduate education may borrow an aggregate amount of $10,000.

Repayment may be spread over ten years, depending on the total amount borrowed. Repayment may be deferred for students who attend graduate school or serve in the Armed Forces, Peace Corps, Vista or Action. Under certain conditions, cancellation of part of the loan is possible.

Nursing Student Loans

Nursing Student Loans are available from participating nursing schools for students enrolled at least half-time in a nursing diploma or degree program. Students are eligible to receive $2,500 per year, based upon determined financial need. Total borrowing may not exceed $10,000.

Interest accrues at 3% beginning ten months after graduation or termination of at least half-time enrollment in a nursing program. Repayment may be deferred for service in the Armed Forces, Peace Corps or up to five years for continued nursing training. Portions of the loan may be cancelled for work as a full-time registered nurse in a public or non-profit institution.

Contact your guidance counselor or any financial aid officer for further information.

For more information contact the Bureau of Veterans Services, Augusta.

Part F — Indian Scholarships

Indian Scholarship Act

Purpose:

The main purpose of the North American Indian Scholarship Act is to assist Indians living in Maine in obtaining secondary and post-secondary education from properly accredited institutions through the provision of financial assistance to the individual, and, if necessary, through payment of a supporting grant to a post-secondary institution furnishing education services to the scholarship recipient. To implement this purpose, a committee has full authority in its discretion to approve all scholarship grants which may not exceed $3,000 per year and it may approve a supplementary grant not exceeding $1,000 per year to any institution enrolling one or more scholarship recipients for the purpose of establishing and conducting a program of support services for scholarship recipients.

If funds are available from the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs no grant shall be given to any Penobscot or Passamaquoddy student when the student is enrolled in a four-year post secondary degree granting program. This limitation does not apply to Micmac or Malicite Indians who are not eligible for federal Bureau of Indian Affairs Scholarship assistance.

For further information, contact: Ed Dicenso, Superintendent of Maine Indian Education, Box 412, Calais, ME 04619. Telephone: 454-2126.

University of Maine Indian Scholarship Program

Waivers covering tuition and fees are available for members of the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot Tribes and other persons who have resided in Maine for at least one year and who have at least one parent or grandparent on the census of a North American Indian tribe or with a band number of the Micmac or Malicite Tribes.
